Spotlight

From the Executive,
Artistic & Producing Directors

We're excited at SRT about your response to our five-show season and have decided to continue with the expanded offering for 2009-2010.

Rising costs continue to challenge us as we strive for quality theatre that is available to everyone. With that in mind we are offering special preview prices for subscriptions to the first Friday evening performance of each production. Seating is limited, so these special preview subscriptions will be available on a first-come, first-served basis. Our post-performance opening night reception will now be held on the first Saturday night. Those who choose this night will have an opportunity to share a drink and nibble with the cast.

The coming season offers mostly family friendly entertainment in response to many comments from patrons who wish to bring the whole family to see good theatre. (The exception being our final offering—a slightly naughty farce with some typically semi-clad cuties running around.)

The season includes Tony award winners, Pulitzer Prize-winning authors, a musical, lots of comedy and some serious issues as well. We thank all our subscribers for their support and hope you will not only renew your subscription but invite friends to join you as well. To our new subscribers – welcome to the family.

Season 2009-10

We Are Proud To Announce Our Upcoming Season Of Extraordinary Live Theatre!

I'm Not Rappaport by Herb Gardner (PG-13) Sept 11-Oct 10, 2009
This comedy is a Tony Award best play winner. Meet Midge and Nat, two old codgers who meet in the park daily. Midge is an African-American janitor, hiding from his tenants who want him to retire; Nat is a Jewish old time radical, hiding from irrelevance by spinning fantasies and fighting injustice both real and imagined. Their cantankerous relationship is the stuff of pure comic genius. "Rambunctiously funny." – N.Y. Post

Holiday Memories Adapted by Russel Vandenbroucke (G) Nov 13-Dec 12, 2009
Based on two short stories from Truman Capote, "The Thanksgiving Visitor" and "A Christmas Memory," this is a charming, heartwarming remembrance of a young man and his family. A nostalgic holiday tale laced with lyricism, wit and gentle charm that is sure to impart a warm glow to family audiences.

They're Playing Our Song Jan 15-Feb 20, 2010
Book by Neil Simon, Music by Marvin Hamlisch, Lyrics by Carol Bayer Sager (G)
A romantic comedy musical about an established composer and an aspiring young lyricist. Written with the usual Neil Simon wit and graced with the musical genius of Hamlisch and Bayer Sager, this production will send you out the door with a smile on your face and a song in your heart. "... full of blithe good humor ... absolutely beguiling ..." N.Y. Post

Over the River and Through the Woods by Joe DiPietro (G) Mar 26-April 24, 2010
A wonderful family comedy by the author of "I Love You, You're Perfect, Now Change," your favorite play of our 2007/2008 season. Nick, a single Italian-American, has dinner with his grandparents every Sunday. When he tells them he is leaving New Jersey to take a job in Seattle, they devise a scheme to keep him home that includes introducing him to the lovely Caitlin O'Hare. "Loaded with laughs, every step of the way." – Star-Ledger

Not Now, Darling By Ray Cooney & John Chapman (PG) May 28-June 26, 2010
This hilarious farce set box-office records in Paris, London and New York. This is the tale of two unlikely partners in a fur salon, Bodley the philanderer and Crouch the guileless innocent. The action of the play involves girlfriends, suspicious husbands and wives, intrigue, scantily clad girls clapped hurriedly into closets, the usual mistaken identities and non-stop laughter. "What does an audience do? It rolls in the aisles" -- Variety
